Section Two

70th Billingham Craft Show

The 70th Billingham Craft Show will include classes to reflect this special year and some of the events taking place in Billingham in 2023

There will be a special class to enable adults and children to submit work that was created for the 2022 show which sadly had to be cancelled following the death of Queen Elizabeth 2nd. Any work produced specifically for that event can be included in this years show and will be placed in a class of its own. See class lists for specific details.

70 years ago, many people struggled financially much as they do today and would often 'make do and mend' to get by. People are rediscovering this need today. More people are making and baking at home because of rising costs alongside an increasing interest in conservation, reducing landfill and food waste.

Many volunteer groups and charities have taken on a supporting role to meet the needs of our communities. Through some of the show classes we will raise awareness of a few charities that benefit from the kind of items made for shows such as this to support their work. (All entries will remain the property of the maker). Anyone wishing to pass items to charity will be given details of the charities they might wish to support.

It is not the purpose of the show to make items specifically for a charity but to showcase your own creative skills using ideas taken from charities operating in our area.

If you would like details on how to support them with your knitting, sewing and crochet skills you will be able to pick up information from the craft show in the civic show tent.

Billingham will be host to the Festival of Thrift in 2023 and some classes will include references to thrifting and sustainability. There is also a link to the Billingham International Folklore Festival in some classes.

There will be a specific class for 16 to 18 year olds to encourage this age group to participate and display their talent at the show. An under 3's class has also been included. Paper plates for the under 3's class can be collected from Billingham library, Billingham Town Council and the Café in John Whitehead Park.

70th Billingham Craft Show Rules

1 Liability for loss or damage — organisers accept no responsibility for safety of exhibits or other property. Exhibits will be staged at owner's risk. All reasonable precautions against theft or damage will be taken to prevent risk.

2 Judging—will be made by an independent panel and their decision is final. All exhibits are anonymous to ensure a fair and independent judging process. Judging of exhibits will take place between 10am and 12 noon on Saturday 9th September. Only persons authorised by craft show committee members will be allowed in craft show area of the civic marquee during judging times. Only one 1st 2nd & 3rd prize will be awarded in each class. Certificates and prize will be awarded only if the judges are satisfied with the standard of exhibits. Best in show prizes are awarded at the discretion of the Judges.

Craft Show Winners - presentations will take place in the civic marquee on Sunday 10th at 3pm

3 Entry Form—Entry forms can be found within this brochure and may be reproduced if you require additional class entries.

4 Exhibits - must be first-time showing in Billingham Craft Show

5 Children - Items in the children's classes should be the work of the child. Guidance but not assistance may be given by an adult.

6 Entry numbers - may be limited if a particular class is oversubscribed

7 Entry fees - per exhibit are: adults £1 all children's exhibits are – Free

8 Craft Show Exhibits must be registered with the official entry form from this brochure. Forms should be handed to a show committee member in the Civic Marquee between 2 pm and 6pm on Friday 8th September 2022 prior to placement of exhibits in the show marquee. Exhibitors must leave the show marquee by 6:15 pm. Baked goods and Flower exhibits must be registered during this time but must not be placed on the show tables until 9.30 am on Saturday 9th. Exhibitors must leave the marquee before 9.50am on that day. If floral art exhibitors require more time please contact the show manager to arrange a time.

9 Exhibits can be removed only after the winner presentations on Sunday afternoon.

10 Entries and prizes that are not removed by 4.30 pm will be removed by the show organisers.

Class numbers will be abbreviated as: CCS - children's craft section and ACS - Adults Class Section

An additional class has been added to show items created for the cancelled 2022 show and a miscellaneous class to show items not covered in class lists.

Craft Show Organiser can be contacted on 07811204104

Children – Handwriting

Prizes £3, £2, £1

CCS 36	5-7, year olds Copy the paragraph below on a page of unlined paper or card no more 18cm x 15cm
Beatrice Millicent Robinson was a fixer. But she was no ordinary fixer. She was the fastest and finest fixer there was. Bea could mend everything (yes, really everything) from the trickiest sprocket to the largest rocket. Whenever something broke, Bea was the first person anyone would call. Bea fixed small tricky things like Monsieur Lockheart's tiniest clock, which once had a tick but now had no tock. Bea, I need you! A spring went ping in my favourite clock! Don't worry! Now we have spoken I can fix what is broken. She swapped the springs and tightened the sprongs. Soon the clock was good as new. Tick tock! tick tock! It's perfect Thankyou Taken from the book 'The Fixer of Broken Things' by Julia Patton. This book can be found or ordered in the local library if you would like to read more.

Children – HandwritingPrizes £3, £2, £1

CCS 37	8-11, year olds Copy the paragraph below on a page of unlined paper or card no more than 18cm x 15cm
‘The child came out of the wild-ness, out of the spare bleak marsh where few dared to go and none came back. And though the villagers grew used to her, they did not forget from where she came.’ When the child walks out of the marsh the villagers are wary. She is odd – half wild, with an unnatural bond to the falcon, who is always circling above her. Only the wise woman is kind to her, taking her in and naming her Rhodd. Over the years, the deadly marshland grows and grows, and brings with it a fatal sickness to the village. To save the creatures and the people she loves, Rhodd must return to the dark place she once fled and find out what has really happened to the wild. Step back into the wild-ness, child, where no man goes and face the fight of your life. It is time to win back the wild world. Taken from the book ‘Wilder’ by Penny Chrimes. This book can be found or ordered in the local library if you would like to read more of this story

Children – HandwritingPrizes £3, £2, £1

CCS 38	12 - 14, year olds Copy the paragraph below on a page of unlined paper or card no more than 18cm x 15cm
Daisy was good at waiting. It was necessary, if you had a mother as extraordinary as hers. Leila Thistledown was a journalist and travelled all over the world chasing stories. She liked to imagine Ma waving a butterfly net through the air and scooping up flighty headlines and unruly articles: news about kings and anarchists, barrel bombs and jewel thieves, rigged elections and rare monkeys with golden eyes. ‘Good journalism is like electricity,’ Ma would say when she was asked for the secret of her success. ‘It should make you sit up and yelp.’ And she would grin the grin that made her look more like a mischievous ten-year-old than an internationally-renowned reporter. Daisy went everywhere with Ma, and at moments like this she felt like a partner in her world-changing enterprise, the sidekick in Ma’s diamond-bright conjuring act. Ma would shake the stories from her net and write them up on a travel-scratched laptop that clattered and battered its way through the night as Daisy tried to sleep. The stories were sent back to the newsroom of the High Herald to appear in thousands upon thousands of papers all over the country each day. They were read by bespectacled doctors with black brief cases and lawyers in immaculate suits, by apple-sellers and jazz musicians, avant-garde artists and moustachioed diplomats, by curious schoolchildren and feather-bow-ed night club dancers. Everyone read Leila Thistledown’s articles in the Herald. Taken from the book ‘Greenwild’ - The World Behind The Door by Pari Thomson This book can be found or ordered in the local library if you would like to read more.

Turners Funfairs Keith Turner and Sons – Members of the Showmen's Guild will provide a range of traditional and modern fairground rides. There will be a range of attractions including sedate to thrill seeking rides alongside traditional fairground sideshows.

Trade Stalls there will be a range of stalls including cake stalls, craft stalls, charity stalls alongside a range of information stands. Plenty of opportunities to make some purchases along with finding out more about organisations in our locality.

The Civic Marquee will include the craft show and a variety of information stands of interest to Billingham residents. There will be a display by the Cleveland Bonsai Society and a display of wood carvings by the Cleveland Carving Club.

Café in The Park. The café in the park will be open from 9am to 5pm on both show dates for hot and cold food, drinks, and snacks.

Kiddies Corner The kiddie's corner will provide a range of interesting activities at no cost. All activities will be provided free by Smiles nursery Staff supported by the Billingham Legacy Foundation Support Group. The staff are all experienced in providing play and care for children.

Lost children should be reported to event staff who must immediately report it to the event controller. Unaccompanied children found during the show must be taken to a member of show staff who will immediately report this to the event controller and accompany the child to staff in Kiddies Corner Marquee. This member of staff will remain with the child until they are reunited with their parent or guardian.

Lost property any member of the public reporting lost property will be directed to the café where a member of staff will take details. If property is found this can be taken to the café and handed to a member of staff who will record the details.

The Billingham Show is supported financially by several organisations who will be acknowledged on the following page. Volunteers support the show prior to, during and after the event. Volunteers put in a lot of work, and we ask that you treat our volunteers respectfully throughout your visit. If you are interested in volunteering in future years to support the ongoing success of Billingham show please don't hesitate to register your interest with Billingham Town Council.
